

To whom it may concern:

I am pleased to offer a letter of recommendation for Alberghini Architect. In 2006 Dr. Alberghini designed a new comfortable, spacious and flexible home for me. I thought that the lot I own had many limitations to it because of its odd shape and size and the strict building codes of the city. However, Pier Paolo Alberghini presented me with a design that showed me his talent for seeing what can be done with a space. This new home he designed is beautiful, functional, and there is no feeling of any limitation or restriction to the rooms. Actually everyone comments on how this new home feels so spacious and light filled.

I lost my original home to a fire, and when re-building this new home, I knew I wanted it to be more than a structure; I wished to have a beautiful and healthy environment in which to live and entertain. I am aware of the science of BioGeometry and know that through the use of certain angles, shapes, numbers, materials, lines and colours a building can be created that is healthy and clear of detrimental stressful energies. Dr. Alberghini is one of a few qualified architects to include BioGeometry in his designs, and within my home he included many very subtle adjustments to the angle of a step, a wall, the wiring, etc., that provide a special balance and harmony to the overall quality of the structure. I highly recommend the use of this science in the design of any home as the added dimension that it provides takes very little adjustment to a plan and the results are very positive in their subtle influence.

I am very pleased with my home, and if you have any questions regarding Dr. Alberghini, I am happy to answer them.

Sincerely,

Vanessa Shand

To whom it may concern:

We approach this recommendation of Alberghini Architect Inc. with gratitude and admiration for the Architectural work done in designing our home in Toronto.

After living in a beautiful and spacious home on Stavebank Rd. for a long time, our dream lots, on the opposite side of the street overlooking the Credit River, with a spectacular view of the ravine and the winding river, came available for purchase in 2006, and after 10 years of expectation we finally purchased the property we dreamed of.

When it came to select the architect who would fulfill the design and construction of this spacious 10,000 sq. ft. house, we searched in the roster of architects that were most prominent in the area. Alberghini Architect came highly recommended. We engaged the Principal of the firm, Dr. Pier Paolo Alberghini, after a thorough and detailed interview.

We must acknowledge that the choice was excellent and he fulfilled all the items we specified on the program for the design, with ease and expedition. In addition to the usual scope of architectural work provided by architects, Dr. Alberghini offered a different approach to design and building: a special science called BioGeometry, which he described in detail as being not only a "green" approach to building, but one that would permeate the building with a serenity, and energy that would be conducive to well-being for the users. After our consent to proceed with this method, he brought in from Cairo, Egypt, his partner in BioGeometry, Dr. Ibrahim Karim, the inventor of this science. Together they approached the planning and the detailed construction of our residence in an exemplary way, studying the site and what mother Earth had to offer. They came out with the most astounding findings about the energy of the site and how to built the house according to not only our requirements, but also Earth requirements, a true "green" building!

In the course of construction as well as living in the house now for two years, we have felt this special feeling, which reflects in our well-being of daily life. In addition everyone that visits, being friends or relatives, acknowledges the peace and calm energy that permeates the house as soon as they enter in the building. The house has a rare conformability, it is exquisitely designed and functional to the last detail. The spaces are expansive and yet intimate at the same time, because of the BioGeometric shapes and proportions.

During the whole period of design and construction Dr. Alberghini was reliable, efficient and consistent in the supervision of the work as well as cooperative in meeting all our demands for changes, even surpassing our expectations.

He conducted the weekly meeting leading the team of contractor, interior designers and landscape architects to achieve what we can proudly call one of the best houses in the area.

We are extremely satisfied with what has been achieved in this house and we highly recommend him and his firm to anyone that is intentioned to go one step further in the conception and realization of their architectural dream: BioGeometry and the creativity of Dr. Alberghini really works!

Sincerely,
Poul Hansen

Testimonial for Pier Paolo Alberghini, Alberghini Architect Inc.:

I have made it a priority to create a very peaceful, healing and balanced energy in my home. This is important not only for me personally, but also for the sake of the clients who come to my home office for psychotherapy.

For a number of years I was aware of a geopathic stress line running through my house which affected my health and that of one of my dogs. An acquaintance of mine helped to identify it and neutralize the detrimental energy with holographically printed stickers. In November 2010 I attended a lecture given at the Energy Psychology Conference in Toronto about the Science of BioGeometry. Dr. Alberghini is an expert in the field and works in partnership with Dr. Ibrahim Karim, the inventor of BioGeometry. For 7 years in his architecture practice he has been using the applications of the principles of BioGeometry, with astoundingly beneficial results on the environment, users and their well being.

Some time later, I had Pier Paolo Alberghini do an assessment of my house and discovered to my surprise that there was another geopathic stress line as well as other detrimental energy frequencies. After Pier Paolo, using BioGeometry, neutralized these influences and changed the detrimental geopathic stresses in beneficial energy, I could feel an almost immediate sense of deepened calm. After a few months I also noticed that I no longer needed to wear medallions and other devices on my body to keep my energy field protected and balanced. And this is in spite of the fact that my house still has an active Smart Meter.

I also found Pier Paolo to be very thorough, professional, courteous and informative.

For anyone concerned about the possibility of detrimental energies affecting their homes, I would highly recommend they seek a consultation with Pier Paolo Alberghini.

Dr. Lucille Necas, Toronto

Dear Pier Paolo Alberghini,

I feel compelled to write you this testimonial of your services as I am so grateful for what you have done for me. Please feel free to pass this on to anyone who may be questioning BioGeometry or your services. This is from my heart.

My name is Lucy Sanford. I am 58 years old. I was a successful real estate agent in Toronto for 24 years. For the last 12 of those years, I had debilitating and mysterious symptoms that my doctors were unable to figure out. I was finally diagnosed by the Environmental Clinic at Women's College Hospital in Toronto with Electrohypersensitivity or EHS. It is a condition in which one has developed an extreme sensitivity to electric and magnetic fields and microwave and radio wave frequencies or EMFs. Such radiation is now inescapable. Had I known that these things could happen as a result of being radiated by cellphones (whether yours or the person's next to you), cell towers, cordless DECT phones, some baby monitors, WIFI, WIMAX, smart meters... (and the list goes on), I would have taken precautions 20 years ago.

This condition forced me to quit my busy career in 2009 and move to a small town to escape the deluge of EMFs that come with every city. I bought and renovated a home to make it as safe an environment as possible for me. However, even though it is a cleaner environment than Toronto, it still comes with smart meters and neighbours with all their stuff, and my recovery has been hindered.

My girlfriend told me about Biogeometry and gave me Pier Paolo Alberghini's number. I did not understand this weird science. All I knew was that he used numbers and geometric shapes to balance/correct geopathic stress and grid lines and somehow change the qualities of the frequencies of EMFs in the environment so that one is no longer negatively affected by them. I had seen some of the geometric figures that he uses as my girlfriend had some. She herself had had her home environment recently balanced by Pier Paolo and was indeed doing amazingly better than the last time I had seen her. She thought he could help me.

I was highly skeptical. I had already spent way too much money on things that did not seem to help and, sometimes, even made me feel sicker. I checked his website and was impressed by his credentials and portfolio. I called him. He was very generous with his time on the phone. I decided to give it a chance, all the time wondering whether I was just going to throw more money away.

The first thing I noticed about this surprising and remarkable man was his elegance and professionalism. He had an air of wisdom and I felt immediately comfortable in his presence. He quickly did a cursory check of my home and said it was not a good environment. He told me that he had to first balance me before balancing the house, else it would not be as effective. He stood away from me and, without touch, did an alternative type of healing therapy. It was a profound experience in which a lot of old, 'stuck' energy was able to be released. He proceeded with his work in the house, which took a few hours. He told me it would take 3 days for the house to finish adjusting to what he had done, and I might or might not have some reactions during this time. He also gave me a list of instructions. During the next 3 days I felt major shifts. I thought perhaps this was because of my extreme hypersensitivity. I was scared at times, elated at others and felt like I was on a bit of a rollercoaster. He surprisingly and genuinely cared for my well-being and went above and beyond the call of duty. He followed up with me continuously and made sure I was okay and guided me through this adjustment period.

Before Pier Paolo adjusted my house, I could hear a very loud and high-pitched hum of electricity throughout the house which, because of my hypersensitivity, was terribly affecting my sleep. I would also feel shocks of current through my body and along my spine when I was trying to sleep. I was tired much of the time, without energy and was fearful about my future. I could not handle working on my wired computer for much more than 15 minutes at a time without my writing becoming dyslexic, my brain fogging up, and my memory rapidly starting to disappear. I was scared a lot of the time.

Now, after only 1 week, the hum of electricity is hardly noticeable and certainly not disruptive to me, and I no longer feel the shocks of current through my body. There is a sense of calm in the house that was not there before. I am actually experiencing feelings of joy and happiness that have eluded me for years. I have energy. The pain in my legs is almost gone. I am laughing more, sleeping better and have a more positive outlook. I am able to work on the computer for longer periods of time without such debilitating effects, and I see a light at the end of a very long tunnel.

This man, his work and his guidance has already changed my life. I believe him to be a gifted and intuitive healer, a genuine and caring individual, a humanitarian, preternatural, respectful, and a professional, dignified and elegant gentleman. He is obviously a powerful architect of Biogeometry, and although I do not understand this work, this science, I can, from experience and without reservation, highly recommend him to anyone who is seeking to change their environment, whether it is to aid them in healing or whether to be protected from potential illness in a ubiquitously radiated world.

I wish this had been the first step I took when looking to change my environment because, after this, there may not have been need for anything else.

Eternally Grateful,
Lucy Sanford

Re: BioGeometry and Dr. Pier Paolo Alberghini, Architect

To whom it may concern:

My letterhead says who I am: a Practitioner in sacrio-sacral therapy, specialized in traumas and as well an accomplished NES specialist.

I live with my older brother, who is 67 years old and who suffers from a mild mental difficulty. He is medicated with zyprexa. Since my brothers and sisters do not want me to interfere with his medical treatment, and are very adamant about not using any alternative procedure that could slow down the symptoms of this ailment, I do my work on him from distance, using the AM-WAND and other energetical approach.

Dr. Alberghini, when visiting me in my office and house, on my request, proceeded to do a study and correction of my place, using BioGeometry knowledge and techniques. The effects were almost instantaneous. I felt that the frequency of the building was changed in a calm and yet energetic balanced way.

To my great pleasure and surprise my brother started to speak fluently the next day. (He never said more than 1 sentence in a week.) He was totally present, offering to help me and furthermore asking me if I needed more help! Never seen such a behaviour in the last 4 years..... For my part, on the next day, I started to feel very different, and could feel the subtle, yet present support of the BioGeometry cube he left with me.

This procedure has had a very important impact in our lives, and one of the clients consulting me said they do feel the comfortability of the place, the peacefulness and serenity brought by BioGeometry.

Therefore, it is with great pleasure that I recommend the use of BioGeometry – as practiced by Dr. Alberghini – in all buildings, especially the ones that are dedicated to healing purposes. The integrity of the approach to nature and sensitivity to the laws of building according to energy patterns inherent naturally in the Earth makes this approach unique and effective.

Should you need more informations, please do not hesitate to contact me.

In Love and Light,
LISE EMOND, ND

Dear Pier Paolo,

I am writing you this morning to say this: Bless your heart.

I mean it, really. You would not believe the difference in my clarity of thinking since the corrections were made. I wake up easily, without feeling that I cannot get out of bed, and there is no more sense of disorientation, which I used to have for hours, sometimes the entire day. The difference, which has practically taken place overnight, is astonishing, and, had I not gone through this experience myself firsthand, I don't think I'd believe it. ...

So again, Bless you, Pier Paolo, and Bless Ibrahim for all his work in his area, and Robert, and anybody else who is bringing this information out to the public. I myself now also sense an obligation to help disseminate this information - and already do, on the level of conversation - even if it isn't my main life's mission.

Have a great day, Pier Paolo!

In complete and utter gratitude, and In Light,
Rose

Testimonial and Appreciation to Pier Paolo of Alberghini Architects for His Assistance in Harmonizing Our Residence:

I had the pleasure of chancing upon Pier Paolo whilst at a workshop in Ithaca, NY. Several months ago Pier Paolo and his travel companion and I were staying in the same guest house in Ithaca, NY. Over several conversations it materialized that Pier Paolo as an accomplished and successful architect also had an avid interest in Geopathic Earth Energies, and had cultivated unique talent, learning about the BioGeometry Science to be able to detect certain harmful earth energy lines within the confines of a building. He used this to great effect within his work as an architect, always seeking to refine harmony and balance within a building. Our conversations piqued my curiosity to learn more, and to see how I could implement the knowledge in making my house healthier.

These energy lines are called Benkers Grids. The Benkers Grid is a matrix of subtle earth radiation magnetic lines making up a worldwide grid running north-south and east-west, named after Anton Benker of Germany, the Dowser who discovered this system. One Benker Line is "positively charged," and the next one at about 10 meters distance is "negatively charged." These energy lines are carriers of information, and according to what places and energies they pass through they can cause forms of noxious energy, known as Positive Ions, which lowers the oxygen levels in the room to uncomfortable levels wherever the Benkers run. A lowering of oxygen levels leads to unhealthy cell growth, as with Positive ion fields also. Pier Paolo described these lines to me as powerful rivers of magnetic energy. They are considered to be a great source of many health problems. They pass through any building and are responsible for creating bands of dangerous noxious earth radiation of around 1100 mm wide which emanates to the Ionosphere.

The Benker grid matrix runs north-south, east-west, each line roughly 10 meters apart with some exceptions occurring randomly.

People who are energy sensitive, easily feel the Benkers grid. Sleep patterns of people who sleep over a Benker Grid or, even worse, at a grid crossing are greatly disturbed. They wake up feeling drained, rather than rejuvenated. The Benkers grid lines dangerously lower the immune system, which lead to diseases such as cancer, or at very least can greatly exacerbate existing health issues. In the work place the Benkers Grid lines can lead to poor physical performances, loss of concentration and a feeling of lethargy, thus leading to lower productivity and workplace accidents.

Pier Paolo's skill at detecting and balancing the effects of the Benker Grids and Electro Magnetic Pollution (EMP) goes back a number of years, since he learned BioGeometry from [its] inventor, Dr. Ibrahim Karim. Over the next few days of our meeting, we shared numerous conversations relating to the subject of creating a harmonious environment within our lives. Our conversation piqued my interest, and upon returning to my home city, [I] set about ordering the BioGeometry Balancing Kit. The kits are manufactured in Cairo. As a result of the turmoil in Egypt at the time, getting the Balancing Kits proved to be somewhat challenging.

During this period my wife, Christina, had fallen ill to a bout of German Measles. It took her ten days to recover, but not fully. For the next three months Christina battled with a sapped energy, unable to recover her vitality. Near the end of three months I received the BioGeometry Balancing Kits, and upon following Pier Paolo's instructions – given by email or Skype since I reside in Dubai and he in Toronto – set about seeking any of the potentially problematic Benker Grid lines. Over several years I have honed a reasonable level of skill with a Pendulum, thus the work of dowsing for the energy lines was not foreign to me. To my dismay, I discovered not one but three such Grid lines running through the house (one of these ran through the bedroom). Pier Paolo patiently instructed me via email on how to balance the effects of the energy in the house, dealing with each of the three lines individually.

The result on my wife's energy was immediate. By the end of the evening, a few hours after the work, she had visibly improved. A few days later the improvement had obviously peaked, for she was still not back to her former feisty self. At this stage I decided on an intuitive hunch, to vacate the Master Bedroom for another bedroom in the house. Once again the effect was IMMEDIATE. That night Christina's demur [sic] was bubbly and chatty way up to midnight. Over the last three months I had seen her demur being slowly eroded, and by ten p.m. she was usually sapped and in desperate need of sleep. Subsequent to the correction the improvements were slow and gradual, and to this day the improvements continue and she is very close to being her former self. The turning point was definitely the discovery and correction of the Benkers grid lines.

We were instructed also how to harmonize the EMF in the house, using the BioGeometry Kit, which improved the quality of the energy in the house.

We later learned that the previous inhabitants of the house had been divorced after a mere 18 months of living in the house. A previous tenant to them had gotten ill and fallen foul to Epilepsy. Were the incidences related? Was there a common denominator? Possibly all coincidence. I think not. I cringe to think what [would] have happened had I not discovered the work of Pier Paolo and the concept of Benker Grids, and taken the initiative to try it.

In a further consultation via Skype, Pier Paolo revealed that I had not conducted the bedroom correction correctly. Thus the slow recovery. Pier Paolo oversaw a thorough correction, and recommended that the bed be moved out of the flow of the Benker Grid.

I am most grateful to my chance encounter with this generous man. Thank You.

Sincerely

To whom it may concern:

Over the last 10 years, my husband and I have been doing renovations to our house, which is located in the fashionable Cabbagetown district of downtown Toronto. We have engaged Dr. Pier Paolo Alberghini, owner of Alberghini Architect Inc. to do all of this work. Originally from Florence, Italy, Dr. Alberghini has had extensive experience in residential architecture and in almost all other architectural typologies. He has done most of his work in Italy, New York, Toronto, Muskoka (a rural vacation area North of Toronto) as well as in the United States – specifically Miami and Coral Gables, Florida – and the Turks & Caicos Islands.

Dr. Alberghini was the visionary behind the transformation of our house into our own private paradise. This began with the ground floor bathroom, then the living room, kitchen and study, and then the master bedroom with ensuite bathroom on the second floor. When this was completed and after a hiatus of several years, we again engaged Dr. Alberghini to design and supervise the building of a spectacular new solarium and roof garden. Dr. Alberghini has supervised all of our projects with honesty and efficiency. He has always met our taste in design and has worked within our budget. He has also consistently demonstrated a keen sense of proportion and sensitivity to the integrity of the existing structure.

Our most recent project, the Solarium on our second floor, is like a year-round garden – an indoor space that is filled with light and has a serene relaxing beauty. We began by using this room as a retreat from a very busy and stressful work schedule. But very quickly the atmosphere in the room inspired me (I am a Film Director) to do some of my best creative work. So the room has become an inspiring work space as well as a quiet retreat.

When we first took on the Solarium and roof garden phase of our renovations, the contracting company proposed that we engage someone from their own roster of architects. After a few meetings, we realized that it would be much better for us to work with Dr. Alberghini on this project. Based on our previous collaborations, we knew that we could communicate with him and trust him to do something both practical and inspirational.

During the whole period of design and construction Pier Paolo was steady, reliable and efficient in meeting all our demands and even surpassing our expectations. He was always present at the weekly site meetings with the contractor. He was rigorous in supervising the construction in its various aspects, including the financial. He was always ready to hear our comments, adapt his ideas and mediate effectively in sometimes heated discussions about design and details. He has overseen every aspect of the project from start to finish.

For the solarium project, Dr. Alberghini brought to the table a new tool in his already rich and varied repertoire: he had become an expert in BioGeometry, an ancient body of knowledge that dates back to Sumerian and early Egyptian times. Having been updated and applied to modern technology and construction, BioGeometry now offers a truly new "green" architecture that not only saves energy, but saves lives. BioGeometry applies special proportions and numbers to the modern architectural envelope in order to achieve a "frequency" in the space that is beneficial to the dweller. One of its most significant modern-day applications is to neutralize the Electrical Magnetic Frequencies (EMF) which, while invisible, are detrimental to our health. BioGeometry is also effective in neutralizing the harmful chemicals embedded in construction materials and in balancing the magnetic grids of Earth. The leading proponent of this newly rediscovered science is renowned Egyptian/Swiss architect, scientist and healer Dr. Ibrahim Karim, who consulted on the project and closely supervised the application of BioGeometry to our home.

We believe that BioGeometry is largely at the root of our desire to spend extended periods of time in the solarium. In addition, we find that we are now sleeping more soundly in the adjacent master suite. This, too, we attribute to the positive influences of BioGeometry. Our beautiful new classical yet modern space – made mostly of glass, but warmed by extensive use of wood frames and beams – enables us to recharge, to enjoy reading, working or simply looking out onto the roof garden, which has become an extension of the solarium. In this way Dr Alberghini has succeeded in creating a continuum between the indoors and nature.

We are extremely satisfied with the results of all the work that we have done with Dr. Alberghini. We intend to work with him again in the future and would highly recommend him to any individual or company that is considering him for architectural work.
